Internet disconnects across all devices until I restart my computer 2020/09/03

Basically, my internet will just stop working all together and will say "Connected, No internet." on my computer. Even if I unplug my router and modem and plug them back in the internet will work for about 10 seconds and then shut off again. I have made sure that when it stops working it on my PC it stops working on all other devices too. (on a seperate PC with ethernet, and my phone) But when I restart my computer it starts working again and I have no idea why. Some days this happens and some days it doesn't, it seems to happen randomly. One day the internet will be good all day and another day it will be messing up all day. I currently have a R6250 netgear router and a motorola modem (not sure of its model name) I connect to my PC with an A6100 USB netgear network adapter. I have charter spectrum internet, connected with a cable into the back on my modem. Edit: while this is happening all the lights on my router and modem stay normal
