How can I protect my Facebook account from hijacking when using its iOS application?

2020/09/07

Hello Alice! We've heard about that bug too and we at jammer-store.com have some information on how it was done and how to prevent that from happening again. First of all you should know that Facebook updated its Camera app and now it is totally safe. The pre-1.1.2 version of the app has that exploit. The hack can be performed if you use that application in a public Wi-Fi networks. Those Wi-Fi networks have vulnerabilities. That app has a hole in its SSL authentication protocol and it accepts any SSL certificates from any user within the wireless network you device is currently connected too. So a simple Wi-Fi attack may be performed. In that case all the data you input will be visible to those hackers. That exploit was revealed a couple of days ago and as we've already said there is an app update to fix that bug is already available at the App Store. But as you've already seen, public networks simply can't be safe, so try to protect your mobile device from them. Avoid connection if it is possible and keep your Wi-Fi module off, when you don't use them. Also you should know that as long as Wi-Fi uses 2.4 GHz frequency it can be jammed with one of our Wi-Fi signal blockers. You may probably need that to block all Wi-Fi connections in the area or to make your home wireless network unavailable from the outside. Thanks for your question and stay safe!
